What would you do?

You are on the top deck of a bus and a man is shouting at a woman. She had been talking on the phone in a language you don't recognise, the man is saying that she should be talking in English if she lives in England and that if she doesn't like it she should go back to her own country. You are the only other person on the top deck of the bus with these two people. The woman isn't responding to the man and looks scared. What could / would you do?

What would you do?

Somebody in your school, but not a close friend, puts a story on snapchat that says nasty things about all people from another religion and saying that anyone who practices that religion is no better than an animal

What would / could you do?

Thank you
